THE WAIT OF ERROR REFUSED.
Text of the Supreme Court's Decision—No Constitutional Question Involved—Their Only Hope Now Is to Obtain a Pardon.

THE ANARCHISTS TO HANG.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The decision of the United States Supreme Court upon the petition for a writ of error in the case of the Chicago anarchists, announced yesterday afternoon by Chief Justice Waite in a long and carefully-prepared opinion which occupied thirty-five minutes in the reading.

This decision, which has caused for judicial interference with the execution of the sentence, and their only hope now for prolongation of life seems to be dead. The court, in its opinion, refused to grant a writ of error, and the court-room was crowded when the justices took their seats a few minutes past 12 o'clock. They appeared unusually solemn, and when Chief Justice Waite, without a moment's delay, announced that he would read the opinion of the court in the matter of the application by Spies and others for a writ of error to the Supreme Court, the first sentence of the opinion indicated that the anarchists' appeal to the court of error was unavailing.

Chief Justice Waite, it is understood, prepared the decision, proceeded slowly and cautiously to read the decision, while the audience paid the closest attention to each word.

Mr. J. Randolph Tucker, for the defendants, was the only attorney engaged in the case who was at the bar when the decision was read. He was not permitted to address the court, and the importance of the question involved and the importance of the question to be determined was plainly marked on every countenance in the hall. When the Chief Justice ordered the reader, James Miller of the Chicago Tribune, took the stand and read the opinion of the court.

The opinion of the court was read in full and the voice of the lawyer trembled for some minutes after he began reading. At times he paused, and his face was pale. The courtroom was so packed that the faces of the court seven justices were turned to the floor during nearly the entire time of the reading. The opinion was read in full, and the courtroom was so packed that the faces of the court seven justices were turned to the

information related was not pertinent to the issue to be tried, and whether a Chicago anarchist was connected with the matter testimony in chief, or may be to the main issue is certainly a question of fact, and the court of the State and not of Federal jurisdiction. It was said in argument about an alleged unreasonable search and seizure of the papers and property of one of the defendants, and the use of the evidence on the trial of the case.
Special reference is made in this connection of the letter of Chief Justice Waite, which was cross-examined, but we have not yet seen the report of the record in which it appears. The objection was made to the trial-court to the use of the evidence on that account. Such an objection is not a proper one, and the evidence, depending upon the proof of an outside fact, should have been made on the trial. The offense should have been proved that the offense was one of the letters illegally seized by the police, and should have been moved to exclude it upon its admission on the ground that it was obtained by an illegal search. This was not done, and therefore we can not consider the constitutionality of the search. The court, in its opinion, refused to grant a writ of error,
